

All branches of our wartime services use the telephone. No. 15 of a series, Merchant Marine.

"Tanker out of control on port bow," the lookout telephones to the officer on the bridge. Ever alert, this merchant seaman and his mates transport mountains of materials to every battle front. In spite of fog, storms and the enemy, they deliver the goods.

We couldn't win without them — or YOU!

They are contributing to the success of our fighters—the men of our Merchant Marine are putting their all into delivering the tools of Victory. During the 7th War Loan Drive, put all you can into bigger, extra War Bonds and help pay for these tools.
