L M Ericsson's loudspeaking telephone ERICOVOX is a worthy complement to any basic telephone.

Very simple to use. ERICOVOX has only three control buttons:

- Line selection
- Extra amplification
- Microphone cut-out

ERICOVOX

Valuable hands-free operation is obtained with voice controlled circuits. Speech direction is determined by the speaking party.

Modern office administrations find ERICOVOX extremely valuable. Group discussions can be organized without people being forced to come together in a conference room. In daily use ERICOVOX solves the difficult problem of getting advice or second opinions from a third party. Furthermore, when combined with a low-speaking telephone, like ERICOFON, calls can be easily and discretely transferred.
